What every overly pretentious bottle of wine needs – a hipster sweater! Dress up that cheap bottle of $8 wine for your next hoity-toity dinner party. I'm nearly certain no one will notice you cheaped out and the sweater alone will wow them into a false sense of ostentatiousness!

While this project looks complicated, in truth, cable stitches aren't that difficult to master. It's VERY repetitive as you can see by the instructions below. Once you see the pattern forming, you'll know when to pull your stitches either to the front or the back of your work. That's all you do with a cable needle. It's a smaller needle that holds, then let's you work the stitches in a different order to form braids, or in this instance, cable patterns. If you're not sure how to cable, I provided a simple explanation how to do it and linked the abbreviations C2B, C2F, TS, etc. to these descriptions. I'm assuming this isn't your first knitting project and know knitting basics.

I made this a free pattern because it's a simple project to learn how to cable knit if you've never done it before. It uses less than a standard ball of worsted weight yarn and buttons are optional. The cozy doesn't have button holes and is simply sewn up to form a tube. You can add buttons if you wish. Being of the lazy ilk, I glued mine on.

Also, leave a long length of yarn when starting to cast on. Eighteen inches or so should suffice. You can use this extra yarn to sew up the cozy and save on sewing in ends. No matter how long I've been knitting and crocheting I still hate sewing in ends and will try to save everyone from this tedious task whenever possible.

For the record, I debated whether I should make a trendy, slouchy hipster hat to match but I thought that would be too much. Also, I've been thinking about a trendy hipster sweater for craft beers. We'll see what happens with that. Let me know in the comments on my blog if you'd like a smaller version. That's right. This pattern is also on my blog here: Hipster Wine Cozy along with many other cool and free patterns.

TS – Twist Stitch

Transfer the next stitch onto a cable needle and hold the stitch to the FRONT of your work. Knit the next stitch. Knit the stitch from the cable needle.

C2B – Cable 2 Back

Transfer the next 2 stitches onto a cable needle and hold the stitches to the BACK of your work. Knit the next 2 stitches. Knit the two stitches from the cable needle.

C2F – Cable 2 Forward

Transfer the next 2 stitches onto a cable needle and hold the stitches to the FRONT of your work. Knit the next 2 stitches. Knit the two stitches from the cable needle.

SI St K1 PSSO – Slip Stitch Knit 1 Pass Slipped Stitch Over.

Transfer the next stitch onto your other knitting needle. Knit the next stitch. Pass the held stitch over the stitch you just made. Kind of like lassoing the stitch you just made with the stitch you transferred over to the other needle.

Pick up a stitch

Pick up the strand of yarn between the two needles and place it on the needle you are knitting your stitches from (If you're right handed it's the needle in your left hand. If you're left handed it the needle in your right hand). Knit this new stitch.
